SUMMARY

S. 952 would authorize appropriations for the Morris K. Udall Foundation to provide training for Native Americans in the areas of tribal health care and public policy. Enacting S. 952 would not affect direct spending or revenues.

S. 952 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

Udall Foundation to train Native Americans in the areas of tribal health care and public policy. Currently, such training is provided by the Native Nations Institute, which was jointly created by the foundation and the University of Arizona in 2001. The institute's funding level for 2008 is $1 million. CBO estimates that implementing S. 952 would cost about $3 million over the 2009-2012 period, assuming appropriation of the authorized amounts.
